BULLETIN NO. 16

Apple Battery Recall

Apple has determined that certain lithium-ion batteries containing cells manufactured by Sony Corporation of Japan pose a safety risk that may result in overheating under rare circumstances. Apple is voluntarily recalling the affected batteries and has initiated a world wide exchange program to provide eligible customers with a new replacement battery, free of charge. This program is being conducted in cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and other international safety authorities.

The affected batteries were sold worldwide from October, 2003, through August, 2006, for use with the following notebook computers:

- 12-inch iBook G4,
- 12-inch PowerBook G4, and
- 15-inch PowerBook G4.

Customers can go to the website below for details and to find if they have a machine affected by the recall:
